

As much as we can live in cities and not have the need to orient ourselves by the sun or know the time. Perhaps one day you will need this knowledge if you are without a cell phone and in a distant environment. having this knowledge will ensure that you do not get lost no matter where you are.